Michael Gabriel: While at WCC, I studied Cybersecurity and was pretty active in the Cybersecurity club with roles ranging from Treasurer to President depending on the semester. I was also the team captain for our very first NECCDC team, where we became the first Community College to reach regionals and even managed to place higher than some 4-year universities like Harvard. Outside of that, I also managed to get elected as a member of the SGA's finance committee, where I helped review and approve budgets for the various clubs in the school. After WCC, I went straight into the workforce and now, I'm a Senior Software Engineer who specializes in building AI Agents that empower customer service representatives. I also volunteer at the Empty Cloud Monastery in West Orange NJ, helping the monks out with basic maintenance of the monastery weekly and participating in their afternoon meditation program after the day's work is done.

Xavier Vasconez received an A.S. in Marketing from WCC in 2020. In his short time at the College, he was a part of the Honors Program, and Vice President of The Marketing Club. After WCC, he went on to receive a B.A. in Marketing from Baruch College. Currently he is a content creator, photographer, and professional caddie.
